TIPE Register applauds the assault recently made by two chivalries on the editor of the Charleston Journal. This is very proper. Par Woops, who assaulted a Virginia Congressman, is to be imprisoned, on order of Congress, for three months in the coun ty jail of the District.

THE Bellaire Independent says Col POORWAN has sold the St. Clairsville Chronicle to a a couple of gentlemen from Lancaster, O., for $4,500.

THE Wheeling Register continues to copy approvingly from the Parkersburg Times and to explain that it is a "good Republican paper." This is well.

Associated press telegrams say Secre tary Fish has not tendered his resignation while specials continue to assert that he

A Krno for Spain and a war for Europe is what is promised by Gen. PRIM's choice of LEOPOLD, of Hohenzollern, for the Spanish throne.

CONFIRMED .- Capt. W. T. SINGLETON, of this city, was confirmed by the Senate Thursday, as Assessor of Internal Revenue for this Congressional District.

ATTORNEY GENERAL HOAR retired from the Attorney General's office at noon yesterday. He is going back to Massachusetts, and will resume the practice of law in partnership with his son.

THE Ways and Means Committee of the House have agreed to the Senate proposition on the income tax. The presumption is that the House will concur in this nendation of its Committee.

A CHARLESTON correspondent of the New Era says: "I understand JACOB will challenge STEVENSON to a joint discussion in every county in the State." Republicans who know the efficiency of each on the stump could wish for nothing better.

Elections will be held this fall in all the States save California, Connecticut, New Hampshire, Oregon and Rhode Is land. In all of these thirty-two States eral the political com fect the United States Senate.

It does not, therefore, seem necessary to publish the fact a second time.

A Day in an Artists' Establishment CHROMO-LITHOGRAPHY

Genius often manifests itself, ing and using spearently little and obvi-ous things, but which everybody else had overlooted, and thereby securing very large results. This remark is illustrated rige results. This remark is illustrated the case of Chromo pictures, which & Co., of Boston, Mass., have rrang & Co., of Boston, Mass., have brought to such perfection. I am not aware that there is a single process in Chromo-lithography that has not been understood by lithographic artists for years. And yet, the results obtained come almost indufable, when if of the process. and ya, the results distinct the best paint-infinitely short of the present Chromo, which is scarcely inferior to the best paint-ings, and every way and immeasurably uperior to poor ones. 14 14 17 4 The gist of the whole thing consists in combining many lithographic impressions in one picture. That is the whole of it. in one picture. That is the whole of it. In some of Prang's Chromos, the picture receives apwards of forty different and separate impressions. In mone of them are the impressions less than fifteen.

To originate and combine the different lines and colors which make up the picture, requires a genius scarcely, if at all, inferior to that scarcely, if at all, inferior to that involved in a good painting. But when these are once originated and com-bined on the different stones, an indefinite number of impressions, of equal ex-cellence, may be taken therefrom by an ordinary workman. And it is this that ple. We saw in Mr. Prang's studio so exact a reproduction in chromo of a four hundred dollar oil painting, that at the distance of ten feet the original, she was some over twenty years of age, while placed side by side with the chromo, could not be distinguished from it, and this superb chromo can be had for ing township, was committed to jall only fifteen dollars. only inteen dollars.

This astounding result is only equalled by the original discovery of the art of printing. What printing is to the world of letters, chromo-lithography is to the world of art. The poorest in the land can now adorn their cottages with the finest creations of genius. We accept finest creations of genius. We accept chromo-lithography as a practical educaor that will do more than all other influences combined have ever done to lift the world up to a higher taste and a finer

Luis Prang, like most other geniuses, began life a poor boy. Like many another, too, he did not at first find what he was good for. He tried various occupations to find himself unsuccessful in them all like Grant trying to be a real estate agent or a leather-dealer. At length he found his mission, and, like Grant, too, in the is now successfully fighting it out on this

He has already built up a prosperous business, growing rapidly in importance day of lest week, the long, two story frame business brick block in Roxbury in the aspecious brick block in Roxbury in the earlies on the various of Boston, where he carries on the various details of his business—from the painting even of some of the copies for the building at the time, one man was badly injured, and Capt. Knox was his chromos, 'through all the details of drawing on the stone and the tempering of colors, and the various impressions of to the firm is estimated at about $1,200. press work, to the final finishing touches, and the mounting on canvass or card-board and fitting up in frames. Though he has not either invented or discovered much that is absolutely new in itself, yet his master use of well known details, when no other eye had discovered even a glimmering of such transcendent use, marks him both as a master genius and ne of the world's greatest benefactors.

Among the more noticeable of his picures, is one entitled the "Boyhood of incoln." A boy is sitting with his back to the fire in an old-fashioned six-foot fire to the fire in an old-fashioned six-foot fre-place, intently studying his book, by the reflection on its pages of the ruddy fire-light from the huge fire-place. Around, are the accompaniments of an old-time settler's cabin, indicating hard times, hard work, and in this boy, a hard and alto-gether unusual determination to cultivate his powers and to become a strong and in-fluential man. This picture—not, how-ever for any political significance fluential man. This picture—not, how-ever, for any political significance— ought to be hung up in every school room, as a potent incentive to every boy and girl to climb up the ladder of power and fame, by such means, whatever they may be, as lays around him and within his reach, in-stead of whining or despairing because fortune may not have favored him as much as she has some others.

It is they we we make of our surround-

It is the use we make of our surroundngs, almost infinitely more than their own mherent character, that makes men and women of us, or the reverse. Whoever rightly and persistently uses such advan-tages as he has—no matter how tew or poor—can and will grow up to an enno-bled manhood; while the perverted or listless use of no matter how great advan-tages, will leave us such dwarfs or monsters that nature may well be ashamed of A. The "WELLMAN GRATE" is essentially dif-erent from any other Grate, and possesses merits so far superior that comparison is useless. We claim for it the following advantages over any other grate: First-As a radiator of heat, it has double the ntensity.

Intensity.

Second—It is unquestionably the most cleanly, no soot or sakes escaping into the room, which in the ordinary grate proves so detrimental to Carpets and Furniture.

Third—The combination is perfect. There is no waste in unburst cinders; every ounce of the feel is so completely consumed that nothing remains but the finest askes.

Foreth, As as companyies of feel there being Fourth—As an economiser of fael, there being an actual saving of at least 25 per cent.

Sixth-It is set so deep in the chimney that i is much safer, and less liable to puff in wind weather.

Soventh—A slight motion of the Agitator cleanses the entire fire, and causes it to burn with great brilliancy and intensity of heat.

Parties who are building, or who contemplate changing grates, are respectfully requested to examine the "Wellman." Every Grate is guaranteed to give perfect eatis-
